A. Scatter plot showing COM-Q Total Score (higher = more social comfort) vs. Log theta power during social attention for 6-month-olds and 12-month-olds. Linear regression lines are shown for each group.

B. Scatter plot showing SADS Total Score (higher = more social anxiety) vs. Log theta power during nonsocial attention. Scatter plot for 6-month-olds and 12-month-olds.

C. Scatter plot showing COM-Q Total Score (higher = more social comfort) vs. Log theta power during social attention for 6-month-olds and 12-month-olds.

D. Scatter plot showing SADS Total Score (higher = more social anxiety) vs. Log theta power during nonsocial attention. Scatter plot for 6-month-olds and 12-month-olds.